

My Character Description

I gasped as an enormous male dragon launched into the air his body was emerald green with wings the colour of a fiery sunset. He looked like a god in the evening light. Suddenly he dived down towards me "Arghh!" I screamed, I tried to jump up over him but then I ended up on his back. Clutching the dragon I was terrified as the beast turned and dived with such grace and speed. When I finally got my bearings we had landed on the beach but the emerald green dragon was nowhere to be seen so I hurried home.

